

The night i got my MIC will be a night i will never forget. A friend from High School invited people over to watch the basketball game. Who i went to the party with was my boyfriend at the time. The other people that were there were also some kids i knew from High School. When i got to the party the Alcohol and beer had already been purchased or brought to the house so i don't know who was responsible for that. Someone had offered to make me a drink it was a mixed drink dark liquor and a lot of dr pepper i did not take but maybe a few sips of it my boyfriend made me upset which at that point i no longer wanted to be there. So i went to go sit in my car to cool off no intention to go anywhere. I had leaned my seat back and dozed off what got me up was a door slam from behind me. I looked in my review and its a sheriff truck parked then i looked where the party was and there are police everywhere i didn't know what was going on inside.

I didn't know what i should do either stay in the car or get out it wasn't long before they started checking cars and when one of the officers saw me in mine. At first i said no i didn't drink then thought to myself lying is no good at this point i called one of the sheriff that was in charge over told him the truth and tried helping them to get Jordan who threw the party to come out. Any citations will affect anything i try to do in the future they are not something you want to have to keep explaining. I was also upset because i thought this would stay on my record and i have never been in trouble before or in court in front of a judge. I Can promise this will never happen again. There is a first time for everything but its the last as well. Lesson learned! Just wait til you are of age and even when you are think twice before you make any decisions. What i learned from attending these programs that its something to take very serious its not a game you could hurt others, ones you love and yourself.. Its not worth it!

The videos we watched i liked because it was the real thing that stuff actually happened its sad but young teens need to see how serious and dangerous it is. Watching those videos made not want to drink. I would not be able to live knowing i had killed someone or hurt someone because i chose to drive or take the wheel intoxicated. That when you are of age to drink to drink wisely and responsibly to have a DD or call a cab or if you can just stay where you are for the night. Even though i attended these programs for a bad reason i am thankful for the people who take time out of their day to sit and talk to us teens. Happy i got something out of it good learning experience with out a doubt!
